

IDIR. Highest growth over the past 5 years

In March, during the annual meeting of IAM organised by the University of Turin, data showed that IDIR - NDS's partner for the auto parts distribution - is the company with the highest growth trend. The economic analysis, based on the public budgets of Italian companies, has confirmed this trend because of the concentration of large groups with a 2020 forecast that sees the top 10 players on the market control 65% of the Italian distribution. Maurelli also achieved positive results, confirming its leading position among the other Italian specialists in the Truck division.

